WARRANTY

The Warranty

WheelieSafe warrants the product against faulty parts, manufacture or workmanship.

The warranty covers both parts and labour costs incurred in any rectification.

The warranty period is 12 months from the date of purchase.

Proof of original purchase must be provided.

This warranty does not exclude any protections provided under local statute.

The warranty does not cover:

Normal wear and tear;

Abuse, mishandling, accident or failure to carry out the manufacturer's assembly and operating instructions, or heed the warnings set out therein;

Damage during transport. (WheelieSafe products are insured during transport)

Unauthorized servicing or modification of the product;

Leaking batteries, exposure to liquid or corrosive conditions, infiltration of foreign particles and acts of God;

Use of the product with other accessories, devices or attachments not approved by WheelieSafe, and

Any failure, to the extent that the failure is not a failure of the product, to perform in accordance with its specifications.

Other

WheelieSafe offers a back-to-base warranty, which includes the cost of labour and parts. The customer is responsible for returning the unit to our warehouse for warranty repairs. To facilitate this, customers should retain their original packaging. With prior arrangement, the customer may nominate to have repairs carried out locally at their own expense, in which case WheelieSafe will provide required parts at nil cost (inc delivery).

WheelieSafe batteries are of the deep cycle sealed lead acid type and must be charged for 24 hours before use. They must not be discharged below where the red light appears on the battery condition gauge. Discharge beyond this point may permanently damage them and they will not be subject to this warranty.
